

EXPLANATION OF THE 'PREAMBLE' TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Through the years, the explanation of the 'Preamble' to the Constitution has been meaningful to our members. It is our hope that these same founding principles will continue to be inspirational. Miriam Junge, Past National Secretary (Note: Some original notations written by Miriam Junge have been revised to reflect the changing demographics of the Legion and Auxiliary)

When the American Legion Auxiliary was formed to aid in the peacetime service of The American Legion to the United States, it was natural and right that the purposes of the Auxiliary be expressed in the same words which set forth the purposes of the Legion. Therefore, the Preamble to the Constitution of the Auxiliary is identical to that of the Legion's Preamble to the Constitution of the Auxiliary, with one exception; the addition of the phrase, "to participate in and contribute to the accomplishment of the aims and purposes of The American Legion.

"For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:

To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of American..."

The first of the ten principles of The American Legion and Auxiliary is a sacred pledge of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States. It is most appropriate that the first ideas presented in the Preamble be dedicated to the continued defense of our nation by those very person who have either served in wartime or had a close relative who served. The pledge to uphold and defend the democracy of American is the first obligation of every Legionnaire and Auxiliary member.

"To maintain law and order..."

Law and order must be maintained if freedom is to be maintained. Liberty is not license. Good government means that all citizens are secure in their lives and property. To this, the Legion and Auxiliary are pledged by the second principle stated in the Preamble.

"To foster and perpetuate a one hundred percent Americanism..."

The term "Americanism" covers all of the things which have made the American nation great and the American people free. It implies qualities of character as well as principles of government. Under this Constitution's principles, the Legion and Auxiliary have worked, and are continuing to work, to defeat the attempts of subversive organization to undermine our system, to build loyalty to and confidence in American ideals, and to develop an American citizenship capable of making America's free form of government a constantly greater success.

"To preserve the memories and incidents of our association during all wars..."

Every member of the Auxiliary has close personal associations with the sacrifice of war, be it World Wars I and II, Korea, Vietnam, Grenada, Lebanon, Panama, the Persian Gulf War, and the continued War of Terrorism. The associations and incidents of these struggle are to be remembered not only for their heroes, their victories for freedom, but also to remind us of the awful implication and inevitable tragedies accompanying any war.

"To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation..."

The individual is the basis of the American nation. Unlike other ideas of government, the American ideal places the individual first. The nation belongs to the individual, not the individual to the nation. The government exist for the purpose of serving the individual, not the individual for the purpose of serving the nation. If this ideal is to survive, there must be a voluntary sense of obligation of the individual to the nation and its component parts, the community and state. The American Citizen serves his community, state, and nation, not as a driven slave, but as a free man guided by his own sense of duty. To inculcate this feeling among all Americans is one of the great purposes of the Legion and Auxiliary.

"To combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses..."

If America is to remain "the land of the free," the government must always be a government of all the people and for all the people. No classes are recognized in America. No masses of downtrodden people exist. Neither must be permitted to develop, but America must be kept the country of opportunity for all, where every citizen's first allegiance is to the nation, not to some social or economic class or mass. Dominance must not be gained by any such grouping of Americans. This is another basic pledge of the Legion and Auxiliary.

"To make right the master of might..."

The American form of government guarantees equal rights to all citizens. The American Legion Auxiliary, born from a struggle against ruthless might, pledges all their strength to a continued struggle to prevent invasion of the rights of any citizen by any force, no matter of what character.

"To promote peace and goodwill on earth..."

The men and women of the Legion and the men and women of the Auxiliary know ell the ghastly futility of war. We know that war brings only misery to any nation which engages in it, to the victor as well as the vanquished. With the lessons of war constantly in mind, we pledge ourselves to promote peace and goodwill among nations. We have worked steadily in the cause in the face of forces which have sought to sow enmity and war throughout the world.

“To safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom, and democracy...”

These were the principles which inspired American’s great war efforts over the decades and the Legion and Auxiliary stand determined that these principles shall not be lost to American in time of peace. Following this pledge, the Legion and Auxiliary work to safeguard justice, freedom, and democracy against the dangers of indifferent citizenship and undermining by their enemies. It strives to give understanding of and devotion to these principles in the younger generations of Americans so that they will endure for the future of the country.

“To participate in and contribute to the accomplishment of the aims and purposes of The American Legion...”

Thus, the Auxiliary pledges its full strength to the support of The American Legion and affirms its character as an auxiliary to the Legion. It has always been faithful to this pledge, never developing programs of polices of its own, but directing all of its activities toward the “accomplishment of the aims and purpose of The American Legion.”

“To consecrate and sanctify our association by our devotion to mutual helpfulness...”

In this final phrase of the Preamble is set forth the purpose which has guided the Legion and Auxiliary in all of their vast rehabilitation and youth work; in everything they have done to lighten the burden for those suffering from the results of wars; and to bring full justice to those paying the human price for America’s victory. In this work of mercy and relief, the Auxiliary has made great contributions toward the achievement of the Legions’s purpose.

The words and the intent of those words are as important today as they were on the day the ‘Preamble’ was authored. Please share this document with your unit members. Teach and mentor our young members well, so that they will one day take up the gauntlet of service to the Master of Might, our country, and our organization. Marcy J. Schmidt, Department Secretary*
